Weekly Newsletter: Friday 30th November 2018

Dear Parents and Carers,

I'd like to take the opportunity this week to mention the staff here at Carrwood. This week, to promote positive Mental Health and Wellbeing, staff have had the opportunity to leave school soon after the children. That has meant that clubs were cancelled and staff did not have to attend staff training or meetings, something of which they do on a weekly basis. By leaving school earlier staff have had the opportunity to participate in activities that they do not usually have the time to do, for example, see a movie, spend time with their children, family or friends or spend some time shopping for Christmas. When I turned up home earlier than usual my children actually asked me what was wrong – saying that I was home far too early! The staff here at Carrwood are incredibly dedicated to the children within their care. They arrive at school early, leave school late and take their work home to complete at the weekends. You may well say that this is their job and yes, it is, but I feel that the staff here always go that extra mile to ensure that your children are receiving the very best education and wider experiences in order for them to learn for life in a safe and happy environment. So I would like to thank every single member of staff who work tirelessly to provide the very best for your children!

Have a peaceful weekend.

Many congratulations to 33 of our children in KSI who are having their poems published in a special young writers book. We are extremely proud of you all.

Last Friday Year 2 visited The National Railway Museum in York. They had a wonderful day, full of exciting adventures. Their first train from New Pudsey was delayed so they ended up travelling to Leeds and changing trains. It was all very exciting.

Mrs Hughes and Miss Bailey were thrilled with our children and their impeccable behaviour. They were all absolutely amazing, a credit to Carrwood and to all of their parents.
